With its characteristic canals (UNESCO World Heritage) surrounded by narrow, low and crooked 17th-century houses, Amsterdam is, without a doubt, one of the most charming capital cities in Europe. With a rich cultural life and a wide range of entertainment, Amsterdam is a full-scale city which has managed to retain its small-town feel. Amsterdam is also a real treat for art-lovers. Amsterdam is home to over 50 museums, many of them famous across the globe. Highlights include the Rijksmuseum, Van Gogh Museum and the Stedelijk Museum. For the visitors who have already seen the beautiful canals pioneered the Jordaan and got the hang of our never-ending nightlife..there is plenty more to experience and explore. The Amsterdam Metropolitan Area offers a great variety of surprising and unusual attractions and landscapes.

Kazimir Malevich and the Russian Avant-garde

Amsterdam's Stedelijk Museum presents a major survey exhibition of work by Russian artist Kazimir Malevich, one of the founding fathers of abstract art. Kazimir Malevich and the Russian Avant-garde runs from 19 October 2013 to 2 February 2014.

Best known for his pure abstract work, Malevich drew inspiration from a wide range of artistic trends. The exhibition uses oil paintings, watercolours, drawings and sculptures to illustrate the rich variety of styles and disciplines in his oeuvre – from the thin brushstrokes of impressionism to the geometric elements of cubism.

A tribute to the Russian avant-garde, the exhibition features more than 500 objects drawn from the Stedelijk Museum collection alongside works from other major international collections. Together, the exhibits perfectly illustrate Malevich's artistic journey as he developed his own 'Suprematist style.

Rembrandt - Auerbach: Raw Truth @ Rijksmuseum

Contemporary artists have long been inspired by the Rijksmuseum's impressive collection of works by Dutch Masters and none less so than acclaimed British post-war artist Frank Auerbach. Examining this connection, □ Rembrandt – Auerbach: Raw Truth' runs until 16 March 2014.

During the sixties, Auerbach became fascinated by Rembrandt's frank portrayals of reality and ease with which he struck the very core of his subjects. The six acclaimed works displayed in this exhibition illustrate Auerbach's take on this approach. Auerbach's works Primrose Hill, Spring Sunshine, The Sitting Room, Head of E.O.W., Head of E.O.W. II, Primrose Hill, Summer Sunshine and Primrose Hill, Winter Sunshine will all be on display, opposite Rembrandt's paintings: The Syndics of the Drapers' Guild, Self-Portrait of the Apostle Paulus, The Jewish Bride and Titus dressed as a Monk.

Frans Hals Museum

Haarlem's Frans Hals Museum is home to the largest collection of paintings by Frans Hals in the world. Hals, the most famous Haarlem painter of the Golden Age, specialised in portraits. In addition to paintings by Hals, the museum has works by his predecessors and his contemporaries. Furniture, ceramics, glass and silver are also on display. The earliest paintings date from the 16th century. They are primarily biblical depictions. Around 1590 Haarlem became the middle point of a new style: Mannerism. Typical of this were masterfully painted figures in contorted poses. In the 17th century, Haarlem was a powerful and prosperous city and a centre of art and culture. The painters of the Golden Age concentrated on everyday subjects: landscapes, genre scenes, portraits, still lifes and city views.

Address: Groot Heiligland 62, Haarlem

Opening hours: Tue - Fri 10:00 - 17:00, Sat, Sun & Public Holidays 11:00 - 18:00

SHOPPING

Whether you're searching for the best souvenir, a unique vintage dress or the latest designer handbag, Amsterdam has the perfect shop for you! Hunt for antiques, score some limited-edition trainers or sample local Dutch delicacies: you can find it all in Amsterdam.

Besides the main shopping streets the Kalverstraat and Leidsestraat, home to all the shops you would expect to find in a large European city like H&M and Zara, Amsterdam has a lot to offer to the luxury shopper. Amongst the best spots in town are department store De Bijenkorf, shopping street P.C. Hooftstraat with luxury boutiques and designer stores and the exclusive shopping centre Magna Plaza. Looking for antiques? Visit the Spiegelkwartier, within walking distance from the Rijksmuseum, or if you are a more budget conscious shopper, do not miss out on one of the neighbourhood markets!

Shops in Amsterdam are generally speaking open every day of the week, but hours vary. Opening times may differ slightly per shop and district, but here are some general guidelines:

Mon, Tues, Wed, Fri from 09:00 - 18:00
Thu from 09:00 - 21:00
Sat from 09:00 - 17:00
Sun from 12:00 - 17:00

Please visit www.iamsterdam.com for more information about the shopping possibilities in Amsterdam!

Beaches

Close your eyes, breathe in the fresh sea air and feel the sultry wind in your hair. The beach is the perfect place to get out in the fresh air for the day! To the northwest of Amsterdam is the wide, quiet beach of IJmuiden. Popular with nature-lovers and people looking for a bit of peace and quiet, as well as adventurous practitioners of watersports and sporty hikers are in their element here. Located west of Amsterdam you can find hip and trendy Bloemendaal, renowned for its wide beaches and vibrant beach cafés, and lively and pleasant Zandvoort, with its bustling boulevard, shops, and beauty and wellness salons. Stick a sun hat and a good book in your bag and relax when the sun is out, or take a relaxing walk and a breath of fresh air when you are less lucky; there are plenty of places where you can get a hot cocoa to warm you up!

Edam, Volendam, Marken and Monnickendam

Edam, Volendam, Marken and Monnickendam (the Smalltown Harbours) were once about two things: fishing and trading. Hardly a surprise, since the villages lay right at the edge of the Zuiderzee, the area was later impoldered and now it is called the IJsselmeer. Fortunately the authentic character of each town has been preserved, including their lively harbours, which now have full terraces, cosy eateries and Dutch herring carts. With a bit of luck you'll bump into a resident wearing the traditional costume, or try one on yourself! In short, these Old Dutch fishing villages are Dutch folklore through and through.

Lelystad

Would you like to know more about how Flevoland was created? Museum Nieuw Land (New Land) in Lelystad tells the story of the greatest impoldering project of all time.

Lelystad is Flevoland's capital city and is known throughout the world for the Bataviawerf (Batavia wharf), where a reconstruction of the Dutch East India Company's ship Batavia from 1628 can be viewed all year round. If you are in for shopping, Lelystad has enough to offer with shopping outlet Batavia Stad, or visit the Markermeer or IJsselmeer (lakes) when you're in for some water-based recreation.

Public Transport

It goes without saying that visitors to Amsterdam want to make the most of their stay and see as much as possible. Public transport is the perfect way to visit all attractions and to explore the city. Visitors arriving by car are advised to park the car at the P+R sites at the city limits (€ 8 / 24 hours, incl. max. 5 public transport tickets) and to use public transport.

In Amsterdam, 16 tram lines, 55 bus lines, 5 (free) ferry connections and 4 metro lines take you to a wide range of destinations throughout the city. The most convenient transport ticket is a GVB 24/48/72/96 OV chip card. These tickets entitle holders to transport on all GVB lines, including the night buses, and are available at GVB Tickets & Info and tourist offices. Drivers and conductors also sell 1-hour (€ 2,80) and 24-hours (€ 7,50) disposable OV chip cards on trams and buses.
