Antalya is the pearl of the Turkish Riviera - an exciting major city, and at the same time a paradise for swimmers. The coast has innumerable delightful beaches that suit all tastes and along the coast, you will find lots of high-class hotels and restaurants. Those who want to take a break and get away from beach life can make interesting excursions to antique ruins and beautiful landscapes.

THE CITY

atkinson000

In the 14th century, the explorer Ibn Batuta, the Muslim counterpart of Marco Polo, wrote that Antalya is one of the most beautiful cities you will ever see. Nowadays, visitors to the city can easily understand this point of view. Antalya - chief city on the eastern part of the Mediterranean coastline - is located on fertile and flat land with high and often snow-covered mountains in the background.

Those who want to make something extra with their holiday and really get acquainted with the history of the city will not be disappointed with Antalya. Karain, a cavern just north of the city, contains remnants of the oldest settlement in Turkey. Romans, Byzantines and "Seldjuks" have always characterized Antalya.

Today, Antalya is a mixture of a modern metropolis and an old-fashioned small town. In Kaleiçi, the visitor will experience the original Antalya. It is an oasis with its small mosques and its muddle of both renovated and ramshackle Ottoman wooden houses from the turn of the century. In the harbour, Yat Liman, there is a multitude of cosy small cafés and bars where you can sit down and relax as you enjoy the boat life in the bay nearby.

DO & SEE

Alaskan Dude

There are must sees in Antalya for every age and every taste. Those who are interested in history there can visit plenty of historical sites like Hadrianus Triumphal Arch, Hierapolis or Yivli Minareli. For families with children there is the aquapark called Troy Aqua and Dolphinarium or why not explore the sealife at Antalya Aquarium? There are also many exciting places outside Antalya to discover like Side and Belek. All you need to do is to find your favorite attractions.

Antalya Museum

Here you will find great exhibitions such as well-preserved Roman statues, enormous sarcophagi and remnants of the theatre in Perge. In a small showcase among the icons, you will find a jawbone that belonged to the Santa Claus, who was born in Patara and buried in Demre. The Museum also contains a collection of folk costumes and very beautiful rugs.

Perge

Perge, 11 miles east of Antalya, was the home of the Hittites about 1500 AD, before the Greeks colonized the region after the Trojan War.

On a very large area of ruins, there is a Roman theatre, an enormous stadium and several streets with columns dating back to the days when the apostle Paul supposedly has stopped here on one of his missions.

Aspendos

This famous theatre—the only theatre that dates back to ancient days and still has an intact scene construction—is located about 12 miles east of Antalya. Aspendos had a capacity of 20.000 spectators and survived because the "Seldjuks" used it as a residence.

In the 1920s, Kemal Atatürk, the "father" of the Turks, decided that the theatre should be renovated. Today, Aspendos is used for major musical arrangements.

Public Transport: An excursion bus or dolmus is the best way to get there.

Side, between Antalya and Alanya, is one of the innumerable places where Cleopatra and Markus Antonius are said to have had a rendezvous. At almost every street corner, you stumble over ruins. The theatre, which has a capacity of 25.000 persons, is located on a plain piece of land and is supported by strong walls. The Roman bath next to the theatre is a very beautiful archaeological museum.

BEACH LIFE

toolmantim

The best way to get to the different beaches is by "dolmuş" - the minibuses run often, stop frequently and are a cheap way to travel. Most beaches in the region are very family friendly and offer sport activities, such as surfing and water skiing.

Kemer

The Kemer area has two beaches, Moonlight Beach on one side of the marina and Public Beach on the other. Other fine beaches are located north of Kemer in Göynük, Beldibi and Kiziltepe, or towards the south in Camyuva and Tekirova.

Address: Kemer, Antalya

Public Transport: From the marina, boats will take you to the different beaches but you can also take the "dolmuş."

Lara

Lara Plajı, about 6 miles east of Antalya, is a nice shallow sand beach. The rubble-stoned beach, Konyaalti, lies a little bit closer west of the city. Boat excursions start in the harbour and go to the Düden Waterfalls and the Lara Beach.

Address: Lara, Antalya

Side

The small beach of Side has wide sand beaches and an impressive harbor. To the east, you will find the resorts of Sorgun, Kızılgaç and Titreyen Göl, a beach with a blue EU-flag, as well as hotels and bars. Towards the west, you will find Kumköy and Colaklı with many bars and cafés.

Address: Side, Antalya

Mermerli

Mermerli Beach is a very small sandy beach close to the harbour, if you get hungry you can pop in to the Mermerli Restaurant. An area close by is the Adalar Swimming Area next to the cliffs of Karaalioğlu Park. There is an entrance fee to both these places.

toolmantim

The Turkish kitchen—a wonderful mixture of simple “Nomadic” foods, Byzantine luxury and fresh raw ingredients—is considered to be one of the best in the world. Turkish specialty is the small starters “meze,” together with grape-distilled “raki.” Kebab is always meat cut into pieces or minced meat. Another minced meat course is “köfte”—meatballs—which, just like kebabs, are served in special restaurants. The most popular soup is “iskembe”. It is made of cow stomach and served with vinegar. Seafood is very popular among the people on the Turkish Riviera.

BARS & NIGHTLIFE

Effervescing Elephant

Nightclubs with belly dancing and other entertainment are easy to find—especially in the luxury hotels. In most cases, people who don't stay at the hotel are also welcome so larger hotels with a good bar atmosphere are an excellent starting point. Many of the bars in the city center also function as discos and having a good time is an easy task.

Along the narrow street called Hesapci Sok, you will find several music restaurants and garden bars serving beer. Go where the music sounds loudest—or where it is least disturbing.

SHOPPING

Tom - Switzerland

Turkey has an old tradition of manufacturing rugs and tapestry. The values of the rugs are decided by the density of the knots: the more knots, the higher the cost. Rugs made of silk are more expensive than cotton rugs. Avoid the big department stores and people who sell to tourists—they usually sell inferior quality at exorbitant prices.

The exclusive brand name shopping in Antalya is located along Konyaalti Cad. More everyday ready-made clothing is sold along Atatürk Cad. and Isıklar Cad. In the old district of Kaleiçi, you will find souvenirs, leather products and rugs.

Mehmet Saggün - Orient Bazar

Mehmet Saggün is a former tennis player, but he also has a good reputation when it comes to rugs. He has a wide selection of both antique and new quality rugs, especially "kilimer". He also sells other high-class antique products.

Public Transport

The simplest way to get somewhere in Antalya is to use the "dolmus"—minibuses that depart when they are filled up with passengers and stop where you ask them to stop.

There are also ordinary city buses, but they are much more expensive and stop only at the regular places. Buses depart from the bus station Otogar to various parts of Turkey. Different companies offer transportation along the same routes. Make a seat reservation in advance.
