Copenhagen has something for everybody. Here you will find a great mix of world-class gastronomy, beautiful architecture, award-winning design, clean harbour baths, the unique free town Christiania and the world's oldest monarchy.

Copenhagen is a compact big city, a world-class city loved and ranked very highly by leading travel and lifestyle magazines. It has been named one of the best cities to live in several times, and it was the first city in the world to be named 'Bike City' by the International Cycling Union – a title to which the several hundred bike lanes bear witness to. Surrounded by historic buildings, narrow curving streets, pulsating shopping and a happening nightlife it is easy to feel right at home in the Danish capital.

THE CITY

Copenhagen is an old city with beautiful historic buildings and attractions. The city ramparts and walls, which surrounded the inner city, were taken down in the middle of the 1800s. This has given the city charming architecture with narrow curving streets in the centre combined with a pulsating shopping and café scene. Over the past few years, Copenhagen has supplemented its architectural heritage with new, world-class architecture. Star architects both Danish such as Bjarke Ingels and international have built imposing buildings which look to the future. New districts and architecture have sprung up to mix well with the past. Copenhagen is characterised by its relaxed spirit and Copenhageners bike to work, relax with their families in parks, jump in the harbour pools in the summer, and actively take part in the many events held in the city.

Inner city

Inner City is the heart of Copenhagen. It includes Copenhagen's oldest neighborhood with small, narrow streets and crooked houses. In the center you will find a myriad of great shopping streets, cozy cafes, restaurants, as well as green areas, parks, charming canals and a modern waterfront.

The main artery of Inner City is the pedestrian street Strøget, that runs from City Hall Square to Kongens Nytorv. Strøget is always packed with people and street artists, but be sure to move down the numerous exciting side streets.

Internet: <http://www.visitcopenhagen.com/copenhagen/sightseeing/copenhagen-city-centre>

Østerbro

Broad boulevards, parks, delicacies, design shops. The neighborhood of Østerbro is somewhat posh and at the same time completely down to earth. Østerbro is located north of Copenhagen city centre. It is one of Copenhagen's most attractive and expensive living areas with the shops to match. Shop design at Normann Copenhagen, sip a glass of wine at Panzon or chill in Fælledparken – Denmark's largest public park.

Frederiksberg

Frederiksberg is a fashionable part of Copenhagen with excellent shopping opportunities and green spaces. It is more posh than Nørrebro and Vesterbro, and the people living here are usually older and more established.

Main street through Frederiksberg is Gammel Kongevej – ‘Kings Road’. Shopping is great here with many clothing shops as well as sushi restaurants, cafes and deli’s. The same is true for street Værnedamsvej, which is both cosy and cool. Frederiksberg is also a green oasis with Frederiksberg Gardens, the romantic Garden of the Faculty of Life Sciences and Søndermarken.

Internet:

<http://www.visitcopenhagen.com/copenhagen/posh-frederiksberg>

Vesterbro

Once Vesterbro was mostly known for its infamous red light district. Today it is one of the hippest places around. The district is situated within walking distance from the city centre, right behind the Central Station. It is one of the most fashionable places in the city - not just to live, but to shop, eat, drink and have a great night out.

Internet:

<http://www.visitcopenhagen.com/copenhagen/red-light-vesterbro>

Nørrebro

Vibrant, colorful, casual and young at heart. Nørrebro is a lively area of Copenhagen. You will find trendy bars and fashionable designer shops next door to dodgy dive bars and cheap kebab places.

If you are into small design shops head for Elmegade or Jægersborggade, and if you like antiques Ravnsborggade is the place to go. At Sankt Hans Torv and the streets around it you have several choices for dinner and drinks. And at Assistens Cemetery you can visit the grave of famous Danes or do like the Nørrebro citizens and relax in the park

DO & SEE

Copenhagen is an old city with historic buildings, royal castles, beautiful parks and harbours, and plenty of attractions and activities to keep even the most eager tourist busy. The city centre is characterized by charming architecture and narrow curving streets. But within recent years Copenhagen has supplemented its architectural heritage with new, world-class architecture. It is easy to explore the city and get around, and many sights are within walking distance from one another. You can always catch a bus, metro to get around or rent a bike - and travel the Danish way.

Top Attractions

Copenhagen has attractions and sights to suit every taste and interest - and most of them are within walking distance. With a history that dates back to 1043, the city is full of historical landmarks, significant buildings and interesting sights. Be sure to visit Amalienborg Palace - home to the royal family, do a guided canal tour on the harbour and walk down the shopping street Strøget.

Architecture

Danish architecture is going through a new golden age with internationally acclaimed local architects, such as Henning Larsen and Bjarke Ingels Group, leaving their mark on Copenhagen as well as the rest of the world. Water, space, sustainability and light are the key elements in the recent architectural boom in maritime Copenhagen. Bold urban planning and world-class architecture is shooting up alongside old historic buildings and palaces.

Kids Copenhagen

Copenhagen is a very kid-friendly city. Buses and trains have areas reserved for prams and pushchairs, there are children's menus in restaurants, and of course reductions at all museums and galleries. Copenhagen's crown jewel, Tivoli, is a fairytale for kids, offering both the fun of the fair, and the peace and tranquillity of a park.

TOP 5 EVENTS

Copenhagen is renowned for being Northern Europe's largest festival city. Numerous events and festivals are held in the Danish capital during the year with themes ranging from rock and jazz to food, fashion, architecture, sports, film, ballet, design and visual arts.

Roskilde Festival

Roskilde Festival is one of the biggest rock events in the World and the biggest music festival in Northern Europe. It is held on a huge field near the city of Roskilde, half an hour's drive from Copenhagen City. The Festival has existed since 1971 but has not aged a bit. In fact, it just seems to become more and more popular. The 70,000 tickets available are usually sold out long before the programme is published. The festival is a huge party with guests from all around the world. Apart from the concerts, there are hundreds of stalls selling everything from jewellery and clothes to massages and tattoos.

Copenhagen Cooking

Copenhagen Cooking is the annual Nordic Food Festival. The week-long festival of mouth watering gastronomic experiences from Denmark and the other Nordic countries invites everyone to take a bite of the city. At this festival you get a taste of what it's all about. Whether you like gourmet food, traditional dishes or want to taste a little of everything there will be lots of things to try. Since 2005, Copenhagen Cooking has celebrated both Nordic and international cuisine and in 2011 the festival saw it's highest number of visitors: 75.000. Copenhagen Cooking takes place in restaurants and public spaces across the centre of Copenhagen every August. It also has a winter edition in february as a part of the winterfestival Wondercool.

Copenhagen Jazz Festival

Copenhagen Jazz Festival takes place every july in the streets of Copenhagen. The city has a long tradition as a jazz metropolis and over the years, many of the great international jazz musicians have been based permanently in Copenhagen. During the Copenhagen Jazz Festival, jazz can be heard in every corner of the city featuring top international artists and local talent, traditional to experimental. The programme for the festival is normally published in May and can be obtained by visiting.

DINING

Copenhagen is the leading gastronomy capital in Scandinavia. The city has more Michelin restaurants than any neighbouring country - 15 in total - and Copenhagen is home to noma, which was awarded as the World's Best Restaurant three years in a row. But whether you are into bistros or Michelin-starred restaurants you will find it in Copenhagen. The restaurant scene is among the world's most distinct and innovative, and it caters to all budgets. When dining out try the much appraised Nordic kitchen at least once. It is known for being of high quality and with a focus on using local and seasonal produce.

Organic restaurants

Copenhagen is a green city and that also reflects in the restaurants. Many of the Copenhagen restaurants go for an organic or largely organic menu. Whether you are into Italian, Nordic or a Danish hot dog you have the option of treating yourself with an organic option

Danish lunch

A truly unique Danish food experience, you can get at lunch time, when the unique smørrebrød (literally spread bread, or open faced sandwich), is served. Invariably based on rye bread, smørrebrød can have an almost limitless number of different toppings, from herring, to raw beef, seafood and egg.

Internet: <http://www.visitcopenhagen.com/copenhagen/gastronomy/traditional-danish-lunch>

Michelin-starred restaurants

The new 2013 edition of the Michelin Guide has awarded Copenhagen's restaurants a total of 15 stars to 13 restaurants – the highest number ever. Both restaurant noma and Geranium hold two stars.

Whether you wish to try Michelin-starred Nordic food or are into Thai or Italian it is all here. Get ready for a unique dining experience.
